

SOLANA TOWNSITE CO.

MORA COUNTY
TOWNSITE, ACREAGE, RANCHES, ETC., ETC.

The new town of Solana is located 58 miles from Tucumcari on the Tucumcari-Dawson branch of the Southwestern Ry., and is probably the most favorably located townsite in the Southwest with reference to conveniences for settlers. There is an abundance of good, pure water at shallow depths and the finest timber in Northeast New Mexico in easy reach and suitable for all purposes. Solana is the banner stock section of the Territory, sheep, cattle and horses range here through the entire year without thought of feeding. There are thousands of acres of homestead lands yet remaining open to settlement and the section cannot be excelled anywhere in the great Southwest for fruits, agriculture, vegetables and melons.

The town of Solana has the best quality of water and the strongest supply on the Southwestern Ry. system in New Mexico, with the possible exception of one or two southern towns. It has passed the embryo stage, and is now launching out into a business center for a wide scope of country. New business blocks are building, additional townsite lands have been recently acquired and modern conveniences are being installed as rapidly as men and money can put them in place.

Water works, electric lights, sewerage, hotels, schools will be ready for the people their within the year. The Solana Lumber Company is unloading car after car of lumber for building purposes and is yet unable to supply the demand.—Solana is a growing city in a very rich section of Northeast New Mexico, and is being settled and improved by an energetic and thrifty class of people, already having a large population of Kentuckians as well as many other states, and a population that represents considerable financial strength. W. L. Crutcher, the president of the Townsite Company, is a man of matured business experience and is taking an especial pride in the building of this Southwestern city, and with the managers, Wilborn and Chenault, all of them Kentuckians, has planned the whole thing after the style of the beautiful cities of that state. The streets are broad and straight with a court house square in the center of the business section.

Quay Townsite

T. L. WELCH

The new townsite of Quay, located 20 miles south of Tucumcari, was surveyed and platted this month by T. L. Welch, who is one of the strongest young business men we have in this section of the country, and who is now putting on an automobile service to it from Tucumcari in order to accomodate people who desire to look at his property.

There is an abundance of water at Quay at a depth of 18 to 25 feet, and plenty of timber for fuel and fencing at a distance of four miles from the new city. The accommodations of school and church are already there. A telephone connection with Tucumcari is in operation and a city service will immediately be installed. The topography of the country is level, surrounded by hills and wooded lands. The soil is a rich, deep sandy loam, chocolate color, and produces well in everything suited to this latitude, such as Indian corn, maize, kaffir corn, sorghum, broom corn, millet, alfalfa, pea nuts, oats, wheat and all kinds of vegetables and fruits.

There is a prospective railway connection from the Santa Fe to connect with the Dawson line of the Southwestern at this place in order to tap the Dawson coal fields. For any information desired communicate with T. L. Welch. Office, Trust & Savings Bank, Tucumcari, New Mexico. Ask for descriptive literature.
